

When Moors Rescued Europe From The Dark Ages - Activist Post

14-18 minutes : 4/1/2022

Black History month in February usually focuses on 20th century figures like Dr. Martin Luther King and Rosa Parks whom many White Americans now consider inspiring role models as all of humanity faces growing oppression. Unfortunately, that leaves most people unaware of the profound contributions that other Black Americans, the Moors, and ancient Egypt made to Western civilization.

We are all impoverished by that lack of knowledge. Many Americans assume that Blacks Americans have no history beyond slavery. Most Americans are not aware of the major contributions Blacks made to America and that the Egyptians and Moors made to Western civilization.

Some of the many Blacks who revolutionized our world:

Why History Is A Sacred Science

Our educational system fails to tell us about the impact of ancient Egypt on America and Europe today. However, Oscar Is Based on Egyptian God Ptah shows that not only is the Oscar (the statue coveted by actors and filmmakers at the Academy Awards) based on the Egyptian God Ptah, but we are basically living in ancient Egypt now in countless fundamental ways — looking on with eyes wide shut.

Because we don't know our history, we have been robbed of a profound understanding of who we are. That was not always the case. It began in the 1800s for reasons discussed further below.

*The Hermetica: The Lost Wisdom of The Pharaohs* shows it would be hard to overstate the impact of Egyptian culture on Europe. In the inspiring video, British author Peter Gandy reads from the book's introduction and cites the quote:

"A nation without a history is like a man without a memory."

Gandy points out:

"The correct memory of who we are, where we've come from is essential to understanding who we are right now, and where we are going. We live in a culture that has been so bowdlerized by the Christian takeover which has endured for a couple thousand years and has given us a completely mistaken identity of who we are. Our memory is wrong. Your memory is your identity. Without a correct memory, we don't know who we are or where we're going. So, for me, history is a sacred science. Also, it is about giving credit where credit is due."

*The Octopus of Global Control* quotes Stephen Bassett, Executive Director, Paradigm Research Group who said:

"Imagine if the 'truth' was a huge jigsaw puzzle, a big box with 20,000 pieces.... It is a picture of the world as it really is. You come into this world...you are handed this box and the idea is to put all the pieces together. And if you put the pieces together...it will be the truth about the world.... So you set about to do that....Except there is a problem."

The Invention of "White People"

It turns out that the government you are living under has made a decision to interfere with this truth process. It is a political decision...to serve the State.... So the government has taken a whole bunch of those pieces out of your box.... Well, that's a problem, but it gets worse. They've grabbed a bunch of pieces from another box, another puzzle, and thrown them into your box.... And now you have to put this thing together with an idea that what you are going to find is the truth. That is an almost impossible situation, and it is extremely effective to serve the State."

So, in the puzzle of the West, what important pieces have been left out? What's been added that doesn't belong? That's not an easy task because our image of what it means to be "American" and "Western" is crafted from the time we're born by our families, education, and the media. So, what we think we "know" is really only what we've been told. Yet, if we knew the important truths that have been left out, how would America, the West, and the world really look?

The Scottish-American lawyer Jacqueline Battalora explains in her book *Birth of a White Nation: The Invention of White People and Its Relevance Today* that the concept of "White" as a race was invented in 1681 for political reasons. Amazon says:

"Birth of a White Nation is a fascinating book on race in America that begins with an exploration of the moment in time when 'white people,' as a separate and distinct group of humanity, were invented through legislation and the enactment of laws. The book provides a thorough examination of the underlying reasons as well as the ways in which 'white people' were created. It also explains how the creation of this distinction divided laborers and ultimately served the interests of the elite. The book goes on to examine how foundational law and policy in the U.S. were used to institutionalize the practice of 'white people' holding positions of power. Finally, the book demonstrates how the social construction and legal enactment of 'white people' has ultimately compromised the humanity of those so labeled."

The video *Epigenetics: Birth of a White Nation \(The Invention of "White" People\)* is a culture-shattering interview with Dr. Battalora. She was shocked to find, in doing research on another topic, that the concept of "White" people did not exist before 1681! The concept of race was invented for political reasons — to divide workers and ensure the power of the "elite!" Dr. Battalora explains that the invention of "White" people was an assertion of power by the 1%. State governments throughout the US often used race as a divide-and-conquer strategy to disempower all workers. The video discusses the laws that created the concept of "White."

Italians, Irish, and Jews were not accepted as “White” when they first came to America. When they had gained enough economic and political power, they were included. So, “White” is a political rather than a racial concept. As Dr. Battalora explains, there is no “White race” genetically-speaking. This short video shows the reasons for the invention of “Whites:” The Origin of the Race Concept.

So, the idea of “White people” is a piece of the puzzle added to our reality that doesn’t belong. The peoples from Southern Europe and North Africa look similar. In the 19th century, Italians were derisively referred to as “Guineas” because some look like people from Guinea in North Africa. When I visited Italy, an Italian explained that the first Italians, the Etruscans, were Black. The First Romans Were Black People Called The Etruscans.

Two Africans and a European won the NYC Marathon in 2021. Can you identify the Africans in the photos below? Can you spot the European? Eyob Faniel of Italy (below on the right) was third in the men’s race in the marathon. He’s Italian, but looks Black. Second-place finisher Mohamed Reda El Aaraby (on the left) is from Morocco (in North Africa) and looks “White.”

When Blacks Were Called “Moors”

Let’s look now at a key missing piece of the Western puzzle. Moor Vol. I and II: What They didn’t Teach You in Black History Class explains that Blacks were called “Moors” until 1681 when the concept of “race” was invented in America for political and economic reasons. If Black Americans were still called “Moors,” it would be clear that our history is tied to the glory of the Moors who civilized Europe when they ruled Spain for almost 800 years from 711-1492 AD.

The Story of the Moors in Spain: A History of the Moorish Empire in Europe; their Conquest, Book of Laws and Code of Rites explains:

“This fascinating history book details the Moorish arrival, conquest and rule over Spain and the Iberian peninsula in Europe....remaining for some 800 years. Tariq ibn-Ziyad, arriving in 711 AD, began an upheaval never before seen in the European continent.

The Moorish brought industriousness and commerce, a sophisticated code of laws, beautiful architecture, and outstanding scholarly achievements in astronomy and mathematics — together, these would forever shape the culture of Spain and Portugal.” The Moors brought Europe out of the Dark Ages by re-introducing the wisdom of ancient Egypt the Greeks had not maintained. Europe was illiterate except the clergy. The Moors introduced libraries and established 17 universities to which Western Europe flocked. They replaced the awkward Roman numerals with the Arabic numbering system we use today. The Moors created gardens that enhanced the nutrition and health of Spain and surrounding countries.

The Moors introduced awesome architecture that is the pride of Spain today. While the kings of England were still living in huts, the people of Spain had air-conditioned and heated homes with lighted streets. The Moors introduced maps, ship building, and guns. Without the Moors, Spain, Portugal, England, etc. could never have sailed to the Western Hemisphere.

From Enlightenment To Colonialism

When the Moors introduced navigational skills, ship building, sails, and guns to the Spanish, Spain became the most powerful maritime nation in Europe. Beginning with Columbus and followed by many “conquistadors,” the Spanish used that knowledge not to spread Enlightenment as the Moors had done — but to claim they had “discovered” the lands of the Western hemisphere where millions of people in civilizations higher than those of Europe had been living for tens of thousands of years.

The Spanish (followed by the Portuguese, French, Dutch, British, and Belgians) committed genocide throughout the hemisphere, stole the lands, and began a slave trade that resulted in the most brutal system of slavery ever devised. The first people Spain enslaved were the Moors who had rescued Europe! Without the help of the Moors, Europe might still be in the Dark Ages!

President Jefferson’s Defeat of The Moors

When Spain drove out the Moors in 1492, the Moorish nations in North Africa on “The Barbary Coast”: Morocco, Algiers (Algeria), Tunis (Tunisia), and Tripoli (Libya) turned against Europeans after 700 years of civilizing Europe. The Barbary pirates made the Atlantic Ocean unsafe for European and American ships for 300 years until the 1800s. They captured hundreds of thousands Europeans and enslaved them in Africa. European nations paid HUGE bribes to Moorish nations to ensure safe passage for their ships.

President Washington felt America did not have the resources to fight the Moors, but when Jefferson became president, he took them on. That’s why the Marines Hymn says, “From the Halls of Montezuma to the shores of Tripoli, we fight our country’s battles in the air, on land, and sea.”

The Barbary Wars were from 1801–1805 and 1815–1816.

With the defeat of the Moors, there was no one left on the world stage to remind the world of the greatness of Egypt and the Moors. When Europe destroyed the Aztec, Mayan, and Incan civilizations, there were few people left to attest to the greatness of the civilizations of the Americas.

Europe was then free to invent the Myth of White Supremacy. It began to ignore that the Egyptians had civilized the Greeks and began to claim that the Greeks had invented Western civilization. It forgot that the Moors had rescued Europe from the Dark Ages. Europe ignored the fact that the Spanish had been astounded by the magnificence of Tenochtitlan, capital of the Aztec Empire, that the Inca were doing more successful brain surgery than America in the Civil War, and that the Mayan calendar was the most advanced in the world until the 20th century.

Europe removed a lot of essential pieces of the puzzle and added a new one that didn’t belong — the Myth of White Supremacy.

Invention of Myth of “White Supremacy”

The myth of “White Supremacy” has to hide a lot of history to make it seem that Europeans created everything of value in the world — and no other people ever created anything. Yet, that is what Americans and most of the world is taught now by our educational system and media.

Athens, the capital of Greece, is named for the Greek goddess Athena — derived from the Egyptian god Aten. Martin Bernal, author of Black Athena: The Afroasiatic Roots of Classical Civilization \(The Fabrication of Ancient Greece 1785-1985\), explains in the interview below that the Ancient Model of history was accepted in Europe until the 1800s. In that model, the testimony of the ancient Greeks was accepted in which they reported that they had learned everything from the Black Egyptians. Europeans accepted that the Greeks were first colonized by the Egyptians and later were civilized by them.

However, Bernal said that the fraudulent Aryan Model was introduced in the 1800s, which is in place today. In that model, the Greeks are given credit for everything from philosophy (Socrates, Plato, Aristotle), to medicine (Hippocrates), to history (Herodotus), to math (Pythagorus), etc. In the Aryan Model, the Egyptians are ignored — and/or said not to have been Black.

We Must Unite Now To Survive

Bernal and Peter Gandy, British author of The Hermetica: The Lost Wisdom of The Pharaohs, say that Europe switched from the Ancient Model of History to the Aryan Model in the 1800s because Europeans were ashamed of having enslaved the peoples who civilized them.

However, that doesn't explain why Europe suddenly developed a conscience after 300 years of slavery. A much more likely explanation for the sudden switch from the Ancient Model to the current fraudulent Aryan Model of history is that with the defeat of the Moors in the early 1800s, there was no one left on the world stage to tell the truth and counter the claims of White Supremacy.

So, Europeans and Americans felt free to remove from our history the pieces of the puzzle that would allow us to understand the greatness of Egypt and the Moors and they added a fraudulent piece to the puzzle that makes it seem that no one other than Europeans has ever created anything of value. That allowed Europeans and White Americans to steal not just Africa and the Americas, but to hide all the contributions to world civilization by the peoples of those continents. It allowed Europe to claim the achievements of others as their own. It was an intellectual theft that matched the land grab.

The Myth of White Supremacy is an attempt to justify the theft of continents, enslavement of ancient civilizations, and the genocide of millions of peoples in Africa, the Americas, and Australia.

As the globalists work to enslave all of humanity in The Great Reset, we need to get our story straight and all come together to survive now. *"You shall know the truth, and the truth shall make you free."Neenah Payne writes for Activist Post and Natural Blaze
